What are the fees on Coinbase Pro? Trading Fees. Coinbase Pro uses a maker-taker fee model for determining its trading fees. Orders that provide liquidity (maker orders) are charged different fees than orders that take liquidity (taker orders). Fees are calculated based on the current pricing tier you are in when the order is placed, and not on the tier you would be in after a trade is completed. Your fee tier is recalculated hourly based on your total trading volume.

Opposed to a custodial exchange that requires control of your funds, a non-custodial exchange allows you to trade without handing over your funds to a third-party and the ability to maintain control over your private keys. If you are the only person with access to your private keys, only you can choose what happens with your funds, and this is one of the reasons non-custodial exchanges can be extremely secure to use.

Cryptocurrency exchanges technically can be of two types: custodial and non-custodial. Custodial exchanges hold their users funds, non-custodial crypto exchanges do not. But how that happens is a complex story with multiple intricacies hidden inside.
