Robinhood and Coinbase are pioneering FinTech tools that put the average person in charge of their own financial future. These sleek apps provide easy access to crypto and stock markets. Robinhood is cheap but sells customer order flow to Wall Street giants like Citadel while Coinbase charges very steep commissions to its users.

In the most basic sense, an AMM or automated market maker is basically a protocol, an algorithm, or a formula that helps in the pricing of assets. Rather than employing an order book model like traditional exchanges, the automated market maker algorithm helps in pricing the assets. Automated market makers (AMMs) are a mechanism used by most decentralized exchanges to facilitate permissionless trading. AMMs make use of liquidity pools containing 2 or more assets, and prices are derived based on the proportion of each asset in that pool as well as the mathematical function used. Orders through an AMM are executed automatically via a smart contract that will calculate the trade prices algorithmically, including any slippage from the trade execution.
