A node, in the world of digital currency, is a computer that connects to a cryptocurrency network. The node or computer supports the network. It supports it through validation and relaying transactions. At the same time, it also gets a copy of the full blockchain. Any computer that connects to the Bitcoin network, for example, is a node.

The safest crypto wallet should provide the highest degree of security for your public and private keys. This includes technology such as 2-factor authentication and multi-signature support. If safety is your biggest concern, we recommend you take a look at our best offline wallet, Ledger, since cold storage wallets are inherently more secure than hot wallets.
